

'Twas the Week Before Christmas

*'Twas the week before Christmas break and all through the school,
The kids were going crazy, the teachers trying to keep their cool.*

Everyone was anxious, they were ready for a break.

They had Christmas on their mind, they had cookies to bake!

Christmas stories had been read and so many crafts been made.

And some were still cramming, hoping and praying to make a good grade.

From phonics to fractions the learning would flow,

But thoughts of a long, much needed break would wildly grow.

To stay in their pajamas and drink coco by the tree,

Would be the best possible exhaustion remedy.

So we praise you, our teachers, forever being true,

For guiding young minds and seeing them through.

With a smile on your face and a heart full of grace,

We know you'll all be ready to spend time with your family in your own cozy holiday space.

Merry Christmas!
