

Snow Days

In late January, whispers of snow started trickling up and down the halls. The students, as well as the teachers, were all wishing, but trying not to get their hopes up. We've been in this situation before and each time have seen the same result...no snow. This time would be different.

Finally! School was let out early because of light snow flurries and everyone was excited just to see it. No one could have imagined what would happen while everyone was sleeping. Our town was covered in beautiful, white snow. Some people got as much as three inches. Something most of Jaguar nation has never seen, at least not at home. School was out for three days while everyone enjoyed the snow. Snowmen were built, snowballs were thrown and sleds were ridden. Everyone made the most of this once in a lifetime experience. The snow eventually melted. It was time to go back to school and everyone agrees, now that all of the snow fun is over, we are all ready for spring!
