Rising Third Grade Summer Reading

Dear Parents,

Summer is a wonderful opportunity for students to relax and enjoy time with family, while also continuing to strengthen their reading skills. Reading throughout the summer helps students maintain the progress they made during second grade and prepares them for a successful transition into third grade.

All rising third graders at Thomas Jefferson Academy are asked to complete the required summer reading assignment before the first week of school.

Required Summer Reading

Book Title: Flat Stanley: The Original Adventure

Author: Jeff Brown

- Read the book and complete the attached question sheet.
- Create a new cover for the book on a white sheet of paper.
- Include the author and title of the book on the cover.
- Try to cover as much of the paper as possible with color and illustrations.
- Students may draw their favorite scene from the story.

Students will also participate in classroom activities and discussions based on the book during the first weeks of school.

Optional Summer Reading Challenge

- Read 10 books on your reading level during the summer.
- Record all 10 books on a reading log.
- Pass the AR tests for all 10 books during the first week of school.
- Students who complete the challenge will receive a 100 quiz grade in Reading.

Families may use AR BookFinder to check reading levels and AR eligibility for books:
